WELCOME TO SPACE HOUSE

The opening of Space House in 2025 marked a meaningful milestone for architecture in London. The restoration of one of the city's great 1960s Brutalist icons was the result of a restrained approach, specialist artisanship and the use of the most advanced technologies to the highest sustainability credentials.

The original celebrated architects George Marsh and Richard Siefert had a radical idea of how people could live and work – with flexibility, intuitively, in open spaces and with tons of natural light. We've honoured that vision by protecting the “blank canvas” idea across the various spaces.
